FARM BUREAU FOCUSES ATTENTION OF NATION ON FARMERS SAYS BRADFUTE

FORMER PRESIDENT OF NATIONAL BODY HEARD AT MEETING

Bryson Re-elected — Will Employ Service Manager For County

"It's a source of gratitude to me, to come home and find the Farm Bureau in the best shape it has ever been in," was the opening statement of O. E. Bradfute, Xenia former president, American Farm Bureau Federation, who delivered the main address at the annual meeting of the Greene County Farm Bureau, in the assembly room, Court House, Saturday.

"The Farm Bureau is not only in good shape as far as membership is concerned but the organization is now fighting out its real purpose, learning what it can do and pointing out the benefits to be derived from membership in the bureau," he said.

"It has been my privilege in the last few years to visit almost every state in the Union and speak to farmers in various communities," he continued. "I have found them with problems in common with our own and each of their questions is peculiar to agriculture. Farmers over the land have found that they must take the lead in the solution of these problems—no one can solve them but themselves. Others may be helpful and point the way but no one is as interested in the problems as the farmer himself.

"At the same time, the problems are various and different in the different communities. Several overlap and cover the nation. It was my duty as head of the American Farm Bureau Federation to bring the situation before the nation and try to co-ordinate the various organizations in the nation looking forward to a solution. I had also to make contact with other groups, such as bankers, shippers, manufacturers and other leading industries.

"It is my belief," Mr. Bradfute declared, "that no organization in existence in the United States has done as much to bring the attention of the nation to agricultural problems as the Farm Bureau. I wish you could have all been at the last annual meeting of the national Farm Bureau, which culminated in setting forth agriculture as one of the big things of the nation, if not the biggest. First, because the Farm Bureau interested the Chief Executive of the country and other officials to the point that they accepted the organization as the leader of the agricultural thought of the nation. The President's attendance at the annual national session was proof of this fact.

"There has never been before such

WEALTHY BOYS HELD FOR GROCERY HOLD-UP

Chicago, Jan. 18.—Two high school boys, sons of wealthy men, shuddered today when told that their start in crime was similar to that of Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb, the youthful slayers of Robert Frank.

James Wray and Herbert Ellison, both 17 years old, both seniors at Tilley High school, were short $7 in their receipts for a class dance and so went out with a rusty revolver and held up a grocery store—obtaining $12. Because of their distinctively collegiate clothes they were indentified and arrested a few hours later.

They were cautioned that Leopold and Loeb started their career of crime by starting with holdups.

ACTING PRESIDENT AT NORMAL COLLEGE LAUNCHES CHANGES

Drastic Action Taken Following Discharge Of Former Head

Kent, O., Jan. 18—Drastic changes in administration and instruction at Kent State Normal College, were started today under the direction of T. Howard Winters, state director of teacher training.

Winters was appointed temporary president of the institution last Saturday by Vernon F. Riegel, state director of education, after the board of trustees voted to oust John Edward McGilvray, president of the school since its inception in 1913.

McGilvray was removed because of "unpardonable conduct" in connection with the promotion of a European tour for students this summer, David Ladd Rockwell, president of the board announced. He also was charged with absenting himself from school without the approval of the trustees.

The ousted executive now is in London completing the details for the tour which Winters announced had been cancelled definitely.

Money paid by students for advance reservations will be refunded.

MRS. VANDERBILT IS REPORTED ILL

New York, Jan. 18—Mrs. Grace Wilson Vanderbilt, whose marriage to General Cornelius Vanderbilt in the late nineteenth century provided a social sensation, is ill at her Fifth Avenue Home.

The nature of her malady was not disclosed but it was said her condition was sufficiently serious to bring her son, Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., to the bedside.

CARDINAL WORSE

Brussels, Jan. 18.—Cardinal Mercier, famous Belgian prelate, was reported to have passed a bad night and his condition was described as worse. This turn followed a weekend in which he had been permitted to receive visitors, including the queen, briefly.

WHO MADE HER PRETTY? "I," SAYS LOUIE

San Francisco, Jan. 18.—Now that he no longer is employed as her press agent, Louis Jacobs has discovered that the dainty nostrils of Fay Lanphier, the "Miss America" of 1925, aren't mates.

Also her shoulders sag and she has other visible imperfections that had it not been for his prolific pen, would have kept her at her typewriter as a stenographer. Jacobs charges in his suit to recover $5,900, which he alleges he is entitled to under an agreement that Miss Lanphier was to "split" her profits with him.

The dazzling smile which Jacobs claims to have taught her, keeps the eyes of the judges up to her face instead of around her knees, which he charges are far from being perfect.

"Why, I think that's perfectly horrid of him," exclaimed Miss Lanphier in denying she ever had any kind of agreement with Jacobs. "It's just an attempt to recover money from a girl who has won a little bit of success."

ORDER HITS AT DRUGGISTS

ANDREWS LAUNCHES BATTLE ON ILLEGAL WHISKEY DIVERSION

Alleged Medicinal Whiskey Aminated ined

Washington Jan. 18.—Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Andrews, dry czar today ordered his twenty-three regional prohibition administrators to begin war on bootleg druggists.

In a letter to his lieutenants, Andrews urged revoking of permits of druggists who connive with bootleggers and outlined methods of obtaining evidence against the illicit traders.

"I believe it is possible to clear up pretty thoroughly on the diversion of whiskey through its present form of distribution for medicinal use, by revoking permits of all those druggists who are party to its misuse," Andrews wrote.

"Administrator Baird has proposed, for his district, (western and central Pennsylvania) to lift simultaneously from every druggist in a given city, one pint of its medicinal whiskey; then test this whiskey for purity and where he finds the druggist handling split whiskey or other than absolutely pure bottled in bond whiskey to revoke his permit," Andrews wrote.

"He will then publish the names of those druggists handling genuine bottled in bond whiskey so the public may know where it may be procured for medicinal purposes."

FORD-OWNED STOUT AIRPLANE FACTORY DESTROYED BY FIRE

Mystery Blaze Causes $500,000 Loss—Will Be Rebuilt

Detroit, Jan. 18.—Engineers of the Ford Motor Co. were prepared today to re-build immediately and on a larger scale the Stout All-Metal Airplane Factory which was totally destroyed by a mysterious fire with an estimated loss of $500,000 yesterday.

In addition to the factory, one-story structure about 200 feet long situated in a corner of the Ford Air Port—the loss included two monoplanes, the Maiden Dearborn No. 2, used on the Ford Air lines and a three engine monoplane which was to have been donated to the Detroit Arctic Expedition.

Announcement of the donation had not been made before the fire destroyed the plane, which was valued at $40,000.

While the fire wiped out the factory and administrative offices of the Air Plane Division of the Ford Motor Company, the "brains" of the division was untouched. They were housed in vaults in the Ford Administration building about a quarter of a mile away. The main hangar of the airport, some 200 yards from the destroyed factory, likewise was unharmed.

The ousted executive now is in London completing the details for the tour which Winters announced had been cancelled definitely.

Money paid by students for advance reservations will be refunded.

THREE KILLED AS CAR LEAPS FROM BRIDGE

MOVIE OFFICIAL IS BURNED TO DEATH IN HOTEL ROOM BLAZE

Robert Pritchard Is Victim—Cigarette Is Blamed

New York, Jan. 18—Robert Pritchard, well known in the motion picture world and of late engaged as eastern sales publicity director for "First National Production Company," was found burned to death in his hotel room here today.

The fire had been confined almost entirely to his room in the Hotel Richard.

Hotel employees found the fire but it was then burning so fiercely they could not make their way into the room and it was not until firemen arrived that Pritchard's body was found. He was sitting upright in a chair, partly clad and to all appearances had died from burns or from suffocation which had been followed by burns after dropping to sleep in his chair.

Friends said Pritchard was last seen at 11 p.m., yesterday when he retired to his room. The body was found at 4 a.m. today.

Investigation indicated Pritchard was 55. He came here from the California movie studios about three years ago.

He probably had fallen asleep while smoking and his cigarette started the fire.

CLARKE IS BACKING NEW ORGANIZATION

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 18—Edward Young Clarke, whose advertising genius introduced the modern Ku Klux Klan to the American people five years ago, today headed a new movement designed to bring back the honesty and simplicity of the religion of our fore-fathers.

The movement had its inception at a meeting of fundamentalists here Sunday afternoon.

One of the main features of the new organization as yet unnamed, will be to secure the dismissal of school teachers who teach evolution and profess atheism in their schools and colleges of the United States.

FEMALE TUXTEDOS MAKE DEBUT

Paris, Jan. 18—Tuxedos for women!

They are here and were exhibited today privately by a famous couturier of the Rue De La Paix who succeeded in disposing immediately of a half dozen to two Americans.

The female Tuxedo follows largely the lines of the men's but with more ornamentation and richness of material.

The first model was called "En Soirée" with the coat cut exactly as a man's and made of black velvet bordered with satin. The waist coat is like the male counterpart, but instead of trousers, a skirt of black bordered with velvet was shown.

A lace rill at the throat complements the collar of the suit.

The second Tuxedo, the "Monseur Beauchaire," was striking in comparison with the staid "En Soirée" for it was done in violet velvet, with a white silk waist coat and the third, called "Yes Sir," was made of blue serge.

DEATH CHEATS MINER

San Francisco, Jan. 18—While two agents of a mining syndicate waited to pay him $2,000,000 for his gold mine in Nevada, Thomas J. Kearns, 60, lay dead in a small hospital nearby.

Kearns discovered the mine five years ago. Assays showed the ore was worth $52 a ton. Several offers were made to Kearns to sell, but he rejected them, desiring to operate the mine himself.

Litigation in some of his South American investments, however, reduced his capital to a point where he was financially unable to continue after having blocked out $700,000 in ore and he decided to sell the mine outright.

Kearns' body was found a block from the office where the buyers waited. Death was caused by a heart attack.

Police reserves and ambulances were dispatched immediately and the injured were brought to hospitals.

CHURCH ROBBED OF $300 COLLECTION

Cleveland, O., Jan. 18—Bandits entered the Fourth Church of Christ Scientist, today, knocked the combination from the church safe and escaped with $300.

The money represented the Sunday collections. Police believe the robbers were familiar with the interior of the edifice.

THIRTY THREE HURT AND OTHERS MISSING IN BERLIN TRAGEDY

Sleepers In Tenement Hurlled From Beds By the Blast

Berlin, Jan. 18.—An explosion early today of a benzine tank in a corner store of a four story tenement building in the Mosbit suburb, hurled tenants from their beds with the force of an earthquake.

Up to noon, nine were reported dead and thirty-three injured. Of the latter thirteen were in a grave condition. Besides these casualties a number of persons were reported missing.

The explosion sent scores of the 200 sleepers to the street.

It wrought some strange freaks. The chauffeur of a passing auto was hurled sixty feet, but was not injured. His car, however, was split in two.

The windows of an adjacent shop were shattered and the street was littered with cigars and cigarettes.

A passerby was killed by a flying brick.

The building itself, located in one of the busiest workers sections of Greater Berlin, was badly shaken and cracked and there was danger the entire structure would collapse.

Investigation indicated the explosion had been caused by the owner entering the tank room with a lighted cigar.

RECALL WITNESS IN KIRBY FRAUD TRIAL

Cleveland, Jan. 18.—W. C. Malin, former vice president and director of advertising of the defunct $30,000,000 Cleveland Discount Company, was recalled by the government today in the trial of Josiah Kirby, former head of the company, charged with using the mails to defraud.

Following Malin's testimony, which disclosed advertising programs of the Company, E. L. Holden, was called.

Holden, formerly in charge of the mailing room, testified regarding alleged misleading literature the company sent through the mails.

The government planned to put several "surprise" witnesses on the stand today, but will not complete its case until late in the week, according to assistant District Attorney Miles Evans.

PREDICT PASSAGE OF COURT PROGRAM

Washington, Jan. 18.—Brandishing a club of clouture, senate world court leaders promised today that before the end of the week, the Harding-Hughes-Coolidge plan of American participation in the tribunal will be decided.

The irreconcilable group which promised to arouse the country against the plan, as it did in the League of Nations fight, seven years ago gave indications of helplessness to prevent its adoption.

If the closure rule is evoked there is nothing left to do but vote," Senator George Moses, New Hampshire, and one of the irreconcilable leaders, told the United Press. "We have no parliamentary refuge.

PASTORS TO DISCUSS AMUSEMENT POLICY

Columbus, O., Jan. 18—Ohio ministers will be challenged to action when committee reports on social and religious questions come before the annual Ohio Pastor's convention which opens here tomorrow for a three day session.

The pastors will consider the attitude of the church toward popular amusements, including dancing and card playing, and the policy to be pursued against gambling, it was said.

Sunday closing observance will be discussed and a possible course of action, applicable to both cities and small towns, will be formulated, according to the committee on moral welfare.

Committee reports on "class, race and international conflicts" and the "church and our

a recognition of the farmer—no other President has seen fit to journey across the nation and attend an agricultural meeting. No other agricultural address reached such a large number of farmers and others interested.

"If you have watched the papers you will notice that never before has agriculture occupied the first pages of as it does today. This means to me a start toward a solution of the farmers' problems. It is the central though before Congress today."

Events point to the fact that the Farm Bureau has found out what it wants to do. Before it has been trying and experimenting and has often made mistakes. The ability of the organization lies in the fact that it has been able to rectify its mistakes and keep the organization going. The Farm Bureau now has an objective. Paying dues is not the end of your work for the organization—that has only begun—you are 'in' not 'out.'

The organization cannot work successfully without the proper machinery with which to work. Farmers of the United States are beginning to 'hitch up' and 'go to it.' A real Farm Bureau movement means co-operation and full use of the organization by every member.

Problems of the farm bureau are many. They are not entirely of agriculture and the solution of none will set everything right with the farmer. The Farm Bureau first needs real organization. The value of this problem must be sold to each member. Farmers do not seem to learn that equally, with other interests of the nation, that they too must work in the same way and organize aggressively.

"The Farm Bureau must have the major part of the able, thinking men of the community enrolled, to accomplish results. I hope the day will come when members will have to make an effort to get into the organization and pass a membership test. We must have a true and tried membership—not just followers."

"I fear that there has been too much credit given to the state and national organization—for we can't have either unless there is a high-class local organization. All problems arise in the local community including all departments of agricultural work."

Discussing marketing Mr. Bradford urged co-operative buying and selling and derided the farmer who reaps the benefits made possible by other farmers joining the movement. Closing his address he commended the work of boys' and girls' clubs and declared it to be "one of the biggest movements yet discovered for building up American agricultural. It means a movement to keep the successful boy and girl on the farm," he said.

One of the largest crowds that has ever attended a local farm organization meeting filled the assembly room for the session. Election of officers was one of the outstanding features of the afternoon.

W. B. Bryson was re-elected president of the bureau and Fred Flynn, elected vice president to take the place of George W. Glass. Herman Eavey was re-elected treasurer and William W. Anderson, secretary. Three women directors-at-large elected were: Mrs. R. B. McKay, Mrs. L. H. Jones and Miss Margaret Lackey.

Following the announcement of resolutions by Charles Kinsey, chairman of the committee, heated discussions arose over first of the resolutions, relative to the employment of a service manager by the Greene County Farm Bureau. After lengthy discussion pro and con the resolution was adopted.

Resolutions that a closer co-operation may be formed between the city business man and farmer, suggesting a meeting in which all representative business men and farmers attend to discuss mutual problems; suggestion by the Miami Twp. bureau that the delegates of Greene County to the State directors meeting be instructed to vote for a change in apportioning of membership dues; appeal for the continuation of the extension service, and vote of thanks to participants in the day's program, all carried.

Resolution submitted by Mrs. Carrie L. Flatter, president of the Greene County W. C. T. U., that the bureau federate with the Anti-Cigarette Alliance of Ohio for the campaign "to protect childhood from the cigarette by securing a law to prohibit the manufacture, sale, advertisement and use of cigarettes in the state and nation," was tabled.

Resolution urging the United States to join the World Court, was lost.

Annual meeting opened at 9:30 o'clock with invocation by the Rev. J. P. Lytle, First U. P. Church, Xenia. W. B. Bryson delivered his annual address, in which he outlined progress of the organization during the past year and voiced hopes of the bureau for the coming year.

Following the appointment of committees, H. W. Eavey, treasurer and J. R. Kimber, county agent, submitted their reports. Fred Flynn gave the report of the Co-operative Mill Produce ers' Association, followed by J. C. Williamson, of the Greene County Wool Growers' Association and W. W. Anderson, secretary. Miss Norma Gaddis, reserve state champion and Alan Pierce, leader, champion Greene County Club, gave reports from champion club members. Music was furnished by the Caesarcreek orchestra and Mrs. Carl McDorman, Selma, gave a concert solo during the morning session.

Mrs. L. H. Jones, Mrs. F. E. Wilson, Mrs. C. J. Melling and Mrs. Bradford took part in a discussion "Women's Part in the Farm Bureau," after the opening of the afternoon session.

E. C. Rector, Columbus, gave an interesting report of workings of the state service department.

Home-made Remedy Stops Cough Quickly

Finest cough medicine you ever used. Family supply easily made. Saves about $2.

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a severe cough, is a remedy which is easily prepared at home in just a few moments. It's cheap but for prompt relief it beats anything else you ever tried. Usually stops the ordinary cough or chest cold in 24 hours. Tastes pleasant, too—children like it—and it is pure and good.

Pour 2½ ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle; then fill it up with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup if desired. Thus you make a full pint—a family supply—but costing no more than a small bottle of ready-made cough syrup.

And as a cough medicine, there is really nothing better to be had at any price. It goes right to the spot and gives quick lasting relief. It promptly heals the inflamed membranes that line the bronchial air passages, stops the annoying throat tickle, loosens the phlegm and soon your cough stops entirely. Splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract, famous for healing the membranes. To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for 2½ ounces of Pinex with directions and you'll have everything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded.

A MATTER OF PAY.

INVESTIGATION by the United States bureau of education reveals that in spite of numerous preparatory schools for teachers the teaching staffs of rural communities show but slight improvements. The product of two-year normal schools goes almost exclusively to city schools. There does not seem any reason to expect a change in this. At any rate, the investigators have none but the most elemental suggestions to make for improvement which they regard essential.

First there must be recognition by rural people that their children cannot have secondary or higher education if they do not receive elemental training adequately. For this good teachers are needed. The farmers demand them. But as long as teachers are free to select from among the jobs available they will not choose small country schools if they can go to the city. When the normal school authorities are empowered to assign teachers against their will, not many new teachers will be graduated.

If rural schools are to be better served than they have been their managers must compete for competent teachers. Instead of paying the minimum salary permitted to be paid they would do well to offer premiums for good teachers. That would draw competence away from the city.

DECLINE OF SUPERSTITION.

WHEN KEPLER, one of the greatest of astronomers needed money and instruments with which to study the stars he pretended belief in astrology and obtained both money and equipment from his emperor by "reading" in the heavens good fortune for Napoleon. With the money which Napoleon endowed the pseudo-science, astrology, Kepler advanced the true science of astronomy.

This generation is less fortunate. The science of astronomy is not retarded by lack of funds, but the public is fleeced of vast sums annually by fake astrologists, palmists, phrenologists and other so-called fortune-tellers. Thousands of these mountebanks and impostors thrive more on American gullibility, and they are even more numerous in other countries. It is significant that as the general intelligence increases the prestige of the fortune-teller wanes until it finally disappears entirely.

Those who have faith in the soothsayings of fortunetellers usually believe in "signs," swear by the almanac and patronize the quack doctor. They live in constant dread of that "break" in the "life line" on the palm of the hand, plant their gardens by the signs of the zodiac, avoid black cats, throw spilled salt over the shoulder, never open an umbrella in the house, blame their hard luck on the mirror they remember or think they remember having broken years back.

A century or two ago superstition actuated the whole life of all humanity. Today a relatively small minority of mankind has cast out all superstition from its mind, but the great majority is still guided through life in greater or less degree by superstitious belief. When reason enters the human mind superstition must ever be crowded out.

FRANCE TRIES IT BACKWARD.

UNCONSCIOUSLY, perhaps, France is trying an experiment to see whether the cart can hitch onto the horse and go speedily off down the road.

If human nature in France is like human nature elsewhere—and it seems to be more so—this last proposal of French ingenuity to speed up tax payments seems the queerest of the lot, in French financing.

France now orders that nobody can vote who hasn't paid his taxes in full.

It will be interesting to see whether two duties, both regarded as irksome by a large element of the population, can be compounded into a pleasure—as whether the old-fashioned boy could have been hurried and cheered up to his wood-carrying if it had been provided that no boy could be permitted to bring in the wood who hadn't first taken his castor oil.

Here in America we are looking for more ways to induce the populace to get out and vote. It is doubted whether the situation is any different in France.

Telling them they can't vote until they have paid their taxes probably would not speed tax-paying or voting either. There has, however, been some thought of telling them that if they don't vote they'll have more taxes to pay.

WHAT COUNTS

When you've done your little boasting and you've had your hour of pride, when you've talked of your possessions to the stranger at your side, don't you sometimes get the notion that life's real and lasting joys After all are not connected with the cheering and the noise?

now that wealth has come your way?
Is your love of man or woman not a worth-while thing to keep? Is there anything in riches that can make such treasures cheap?

There is nothing more important than a friendly word or smile; though men boast of their achievements, to be loved is more worth while.

For the pomp of place is hollow, when the noise and clamor ends, and men find their victory worthless if they haven't kept their friends.

Mr. Ben Edwards, Cleveland's champion pocket billiard player, was a visitor in Xenia.

Quite a little delegation left Xenia for extended trips through the South.

Equipment of Bellbrook High School has been materially increased by the addition of a handsome gift from T. J. Brown, Waynesville, consisting of a fine collection of geological specimens.

Mr. R. S. Kingsbury has left for an extended Eastern trip. He will go to New York to purchase goods for the spring trade.

A. H. Peters plans to build a traction line from Xenia to Wilberforce and with his associates, has purchased the right of way for $2,500. (to allow for escape of steam). Put in the pie filling—Wednesday's menu will call for apple filling. If you wish to use a cooked evaporated apple filling, fill the pie pan with three cups of sauce, sprinkle over with ground cinnamon, then roll out the remaining piece of pastry (circular shape) and place this over all. Pierce upper crust with a sharp knife here and there, and bake 30 minutes in a hot stove (a shorter time is possible if one uses a filling previously cooked). The upper crust will be flaky if you dot it over before baking with one-third additional lard broken small.

THE HARD JOBS

Dr. John H. Kellogg, the noted Battle Creek Sanitarium man, says that he early decided to do the hard jobs first. He felt that by so doing he placed himself in the position of being able to do all jobs when they needed to be done.

Today Dr. Kellogg is conducting an institution which draws men and women needing physical repair from all corners of the globe.

There is something very stimulating about attempting the difficult thing first—doing what your friends say you are incapable of doing—just to increase belief in you all around.

The late Frank Munsey came to New York with but forty dollars as capital with which to found a publishing business. He left a fortune of forty millions!

The inspiring thing about the life of Frank Munsey was that he loved the hard jobs. He never asked a hard job of somebody else that he didn't know he could do himself.

Many of the difficult jobs of yesterday are now being done easily by machinery. The big jobs today are those of faith, moral courage, and will.

There is a greater demand for ideas than ever before. There are bigger problems to be solved and handled. A man must have greater vision for work today than at any previous period in history.

If you draw the hard jobs, congratulate yourself.

And, please God, do not whine or complain about the fortunate state of having been handed a hard job. Do the thing. After all, it's your job, your life that is going to benefit from its handling.

Opposition and calloused hands are great things to possess.

WHO'S WHO AND WHAT'S HAPPENED

Sally had earned by working nights and Sunday.

And he had called this "meddling" in his affairs. Oh well, he never could complain of it again, she decided. But at the thought of the word "Never" Sally shuddered.

What would her life be without Tom?

Her first taste of what it might be came when she emerged from the hat shop where she had recklessly sat down. Oh well, she said, I'll take that one too after her money was all spent.

Carried away by the role she was playing, she told the salesgirl to hold the hats for her and she would send the balance of the money for them right over.

Right at the door she met Elliot Dane, who called out cheerfully "Hello there, Miss Lee. Where are you going in such a hurry?"

"After money," Sally told him partly, her eyes twinkling up at him through her long lashes.

"Then stop right here. I can let you take it. And then perhaps you will come to tea with me and tell

TODAY'S INSTALMENT

XX—WHO WILL PAY?

EVERY instinct told her that it was wrong to take the money that Stone offered, but in a mood of reckless desperation she took it anyway.

"You have all the luck," Janet Stewart called after her as she passed her desk on the way out.

"Your boss not only gets you a job in Atlantic City for the summer but he makes the hotel advance you some money for clothes. What'll your husband say?"

Sally shook her head sadly.

"He doesn't care anymore, Janet. He told me so."

Sally slumped down in her chair and bowed her head in her hands.

"The cur," Janet stormed, "and after all you have done for him. I guess all women in love are fools. The ones who give the most get nothing. The only way to protect yourself from getting your heart broken is to take all and give nothing."

"Do you really believe that?" Sally asked, and as Janet nodded an amphetamine "Yes" Sally resolutely straightened up.

"All right then; I'll try it."

And as Sally went out the door she swung along as jauntily as though she hadn't a care in the world. And she was wearing for the first time, the wrist-watch that Jerome had given her weeks before.

Two hundred dollars! It seemed like a fortune to her. Impulsively, she stopped in the little specialty shop in the hotel but the dresses were all too high-priced for her. "I'll come back later and get one of two good hats and then it won't matter so much if my dresses are second-rate," she promised herself.

Light-hearted she skipped from one store to another, wishing that she had more time to look around for bargains. Mr. Stone had told her to get some sweaters and some light-colored dresses—she needn't always wear a dark satin dress in the hotel there as she did in New York. And she was to have an afternoon or a morning free whenever she worked in the evening, so she would need clothes to wear out on the beach.

Once Tom obstructed himself into her thoughts. It was when she was passing a men's clothing store; and she wished that Tom had stood, wishing that he might appear miraculously out of the crowd and fold her in his arms. But the die was cast now. It was the store where they had gone and bought him one less than two weeks before with money he had separated.

"He's left me or I've left him—or anyway we've separated." Sally finally blurted out after an effort to speak flippantly had made her voice all choked with sobs.

"You'll excuse me, won't you?" she went on a few minutes later. "But I have so much to do to get ready to go away. I leave tomorrow. But where can I find you to pay back that money?"

"I think," he said, smiling at her, "that I may be able to run down to Atlantic City in a few days to collect whatever you owe me."

His words troubled Sally. She wished that she hadn't accepted his loan, wished that she hadn't gone to see him. She wished that Tom might appear miraculously out of the crowd and fold her in his arms. But the die was cast now. It was the store where they had gone and bought him one less than two weeks before with money he had separated.

CENTRAL WILL PLAY TWO GAMES IN THAT MANY DAYS THIS WEEK

Central High basketeers will embark on a week end trip this week invading Miami and Troy on successive nights for games during which Coach Kolb is confident success will attend his team's efforts.

Xenia has engaged in three games on strange floors this season losing as many contests by close scores. Returning to its own wigwam, the Blue and White showed a reversal of form and has accumulated a two-game winning streak by victories over Greenville and Urbana.

Games with Troy and Miami on successive nights is a difficult assignment for Central, but with the improved form shown in recent games, victories over both teams would not be unexpected.

Miamisburg, in particular, is expected to provide the stiffest opposition, aided by familiarity with its own floor. The Burgers have gone undefeated so far this season and are considered to have one of the best teams among Class B schools in this section of the state.

Miamisburg will meet Saturday night and Troy the evening previous. Troy was badly defeated by Miamisburg in a recent game and a Central victory over its Saturday opponent will be a much harder proposition than against Troy.

LEGION WILL OFFER HOME TALENT SHOW AT LOCAL THEATER

Rehearsals will begin Tuesday night on a Xenia musical-comedy, written, staged, produced and managed by Xenia people, to be presented at City Hall Theater, February 17 and 18.

Joseph P. Foody Post, No. 95, American Legion, is sponsoring the show, which is heralded as a departure from other Xenia home-talent offerings. Plot of the piece was written by John Sutton and Emmett Hardy, assisted by Robert Owens.

John Sutton will direct the entire show with Emmett Hardy stage and business manager. Dances will be directed by Elwood Smith, who has directed previous local productions.

Show numbers will be in charge of Miss Helen Hurley.

LICENSE TAG SALE
TOTALS $24,000

Total revenues derived from the sale of 1926 automobile license tags in Greene County so far this year is approximately $24,000, Dilver Belden, secretary and registrar of the Greene County Auto Club announced Saturday.

This sum is only about 20 percent less than for the same period last year despite the fact fees were cut in half under new law this year. This seemingly inconsistent statement is accounted for by the fact, license sales have increased over 1925," declared Secretary Belden.

About 4,000 auto plates for 1926 have been issued from the auto club offices alone and the number distributed over the county brings the grand total to probably 6,500, the secretary announced.

FARM BUREAU FOCUSES ATTENTION OF NATION ON FARMERS SAYS BRADFUTE

FORMER PRESIDENT OF NATIONAL BODY HEARD AT MEETING

Bryson Re-elected — Will Employ Service Manager For County

"It's a source of gratitude to me, to come home and find the Farm Bureau in the best shape it has ever been in," was the opening statement of O. E. Bradfute, Xenia former president, American Farm Bureau Federation, who delivered the main address at the annual meeting of the Greene County Farm Bureau, in the assembly room, Court House, Saturday.

"The Farm Bureau is not only in good shape as far as membership is concerned but the organization is now fighting out its real purpose, learning what it can do and pointing out the benefits to be derived from membership in the bureau," he said.

"It has been my privilege in the last few years to visit almost every state in the Union and speak to farmers in various communities," he continued. "I have found them with problems in common with our own and each of their questions is peculiar to agriculture. Farmers over the land have found that they must take the lead in the solution of these problems — no one can solve them but themselves. Others may be helpful and point the way but no one is as interested in the problems as the farmer himself."

"At the same time, the problems are various and different in the different communities. Several overlap and cover the nation. It was my duty as head of the American Farm Bureau Federation to bring the situation before the nation and try to co-ordinate the various organizations in the nation looking forward to a solution. I had also to make contact with other groups, such as bankers, shippers, manufacturers and other leading industries.

"It is my belief," Mr. Bradfute declared, "that no organization in existence in the United States has done as much to bring the attention of the nation to agricultural problems as the Farm Bureau. I wish you could have all been at the last annual meeting of the national Farm Bureau, which culminated in setting forth agriculture as one of the big things of the nation, if not the biggest. First, because the Farm Bureau interested the Chief Executive of the country and other officials to the point that they accepted the organization as the leader of the agricultural thought of the nation. The President's attendance at the annual national session was proof of this fact.

There has never been before such

WEALTHY BOYS HELD FOR GROCERY HOLD-UP

Chicago, Jan. 18.—Two high school boys, sons of wealthy men, shuddered today when told that their start in crime was similar to that of Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb, the youthful slayers of Robert Frank.

James Wray and Herbert Ellison, both 17 years old, both seniors at Tilden High school, were short $7 in their receipts for a class dance and so went out with a rusty revolver and held up a grocery store—obtaining $12. Because of their distinctively collegiate clothes they were indistinguishable and arrested a few hours later.

They were cautioned that Leopold and Loeb started their career of crime by starting with holdups.

WHO MADE HER PRETTY? "I," SAYS LOUIE

San Francisco, Jan. 18.—Now that he no longer is employed as her press agent, Louis Jacobs has discovered that the dainty nostrils of Fay Lanphier, the "Miss America" of 1925, aren't mates.

Also her shoulders sag and she has other visible imperfections that had not been for his prolific pen, would have kept her at her typewriter and stenographer, Jacobs' charges in his suit to receive $5,906, which he alleges he is entitled to under an agreement

Drastic Action Taken Following Discharge Of Former Head

Kent, O., Jan. 18.—Drastic changes in administration and instruction at Kent State Normal College, were started today under the direction of T. Howard Winters, state director of teacher training.

Winters was appointed temporary president of the institution last Saturday by Vernon F. Riegel, state director of education, after the board of trustees voted to oust John Edward McGilvray, president of the school since its inception in 1913.

McGilvray was removed because of "unpardonable conduct" in connection with the promotion of a European tour for students this summer.

David Ladd Rockwell, president of the board announced. He also was charged with absenting himself from school without the approval of the trustees.

The ousted executive now is in London completing the details for the tour which Winters announced had been cancelled definitely.

Money paid by students for advance reservations will be refunded.

MRS. VANDERBILT IS REPORTED ILL

New York, Jan. 18.—Mrs. Grace Wilson Vanderbilt, whose marriage to General Cornelius Vanderbilt in the late nineteenth century, provided a social sensation, is ill at her Fifth Avenue home.

The nature of her malady was not disclosed but it was said her condition was sufficiently serious to bring her son, Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., to the bedside.

With a heart filled with romance, Raymond learned the name of the pretty girl who had posed for the picture and throwing his other shirt in a suit case, hastened to America to find her.

Followed another long search then success.

So insistent was he that she should hear his tale of love that Helen Lewis consented. But she brought two detectives along, who, if developed, were not a bit interested in his story and took him to jail for annoying the model.

One of the details that Rudolph forgot to pay attention to, was that the object of his dreams signs her name, "Mrs. Helen Lewis."

Brussels, Jan. 18.—Cardinal Mercier, famous Belgian prelate, was reported to have passed a bad night and his condition was described as worse. This turn followed a weekend in which he had been permitted to receive visitors, including the queen, briefly.

FORMER PRESIDENT OF NATIONAL BODY HEARD AT MEETING

a recognition of the farmer—no other President has seen fit to journey across the nation and attend an agricultural meeting. No other agricultural address reached such a large number of farmers and others interested.

"If you have watched the papers you will notice that never before has agriculture occupied the first pages of as it does today. This means to me a start toward a solution of the farmers' problems. It is the central though before Congress today.

"Events point to the fact that the Farm Bureau has found out what it wants to do. Before it has been trying and experimenting and has often made mistakes. The ability of the organization lies in the fact that it has been able to rectify its mistakes and keep the organization going. The Farm Bureau now has an objective. Paying dues is not the end of your work for the organization—that has only begun—you are 'in' not 'out.'

"The organization cannot work successfully without the proper machinery with which to work. Farmers of the United States are beginning to 'hitch up' and 'go to it.' A real Farm Bureau movement means co-operation and full use of the organization by every member.

"Problems of the farm bureau are many. They are not entirely of agriculture and the solution of none will set everything right with the farmer. The Farm Bureau first needs real organization. The value of this problem must be sold to each member. Farmers do not seem to learn that equally, with other interests of the nation, that they too must work in the same way and organize aggressively.

"The Farm Bureau must have the major part of the able, thinking men of the community enrolled, to accomplish results. I hope the day will come when members will have to make an effort to get into the organization and pass a membership test. We must have a true and tried membership—not just followers.

"I fear that there has been too much credit given to the state and national organization—for we can't have either unless there is a high-class local organization. All problems arise in the local community including all departments of agricultural work."

Discussing marketing Mr. Bradford urged co-operative buying and selling and derided the farmer who reaps the benefits made possible by other farmers joining the movement. Closing his address he commended the work of boys' and girls' clubs and declared it to be "one of the biggest movements yet discovered for building up American agricultural. It means a movement to keep the successful boy and girl on the farm," he said.

One of the largest crowds that has ever attended a local farm organization meeting filled the assembly room for the session. Election of officers was one of the outstanding features of the afternoon.

W. B. Bryson was re-elected president of the bureau and Fred Flynn, elected vice president to take the place of George W. Glass. Herman Eavey was re-elected treasurer and William W. Anderson, secretary. Three women directors-at-large elected were: Mrs. R. B. McKay, Mrs. L. H. Jones and Miss Margaret Lackey.

Following the announcement of resolutions by Charles Kinsey, chairman of the committee, heated discussions arose over first of the resolutions, relative to the employment of a service manager by the Greene County Farm Bureau. After lengthy discussion and vote of thanks to participants in the day's program, all carried.

Resolutions that a closer co-operation may be formed between the city business man and farmer, suggesting a meeting in which all representative business men and farmers attend to discuss mutual problems; suggestion by the Miami Twp. bureau that the delegates of Greene County to the State directors meeting be instructed to vote for a change in apportioning of membership dues; appeal for the continuation of the extension service, and vote of thanks to participants in the day's program, all carried.

Resolution submitted by Mrs. Carrie L. Flatter, president of the Greene County W. C. T. U., that the bureau federate with the Anti-Cigarette Alliance of Ohio for the campaign "to protect childhood from the cigarette by securing a law to prohibit the manufacture, sale, advertisement and use of cigarettes in the state and nation," was tabled.

Resolution urging the United States to join the World Court, was lost.

Annual meeting opened at 9:30 o'clock with invocation by the Rev. J. P. Lytle, First U. P. Church, Xenia. W. B. Bryson delivered his annual address, in which he outlined progress of the organization during the past year and voiced hopes of the bureau for the coming year.

Following the appointment of committees, H. W. Eavey, treasurer and J. R. Kimber, county agent, submitted their reports, Fred Flynn gave the report of the Co-operative Milk Produce ers' Association, followed by J. C. Williams, of the Greene County Wool Growers' Association and W. W. Anderson, secretary. Miss Norma Gaddis, reserve state champion and Alan Pierce, leader, champion Greene County Club, gave reports from champion club members. Music was furnished by the Caesar Creek orchestra and Mrs. Carl McDorman, Selma, gave a cornet solo during the morning session.

Mrs. L. H. Jones, Mrs. F. E. Wilson, Mrs. C. J. Mellinger and Mrs. Bradford took part in a discussion "Women's Part in the Farm Bureau," after the opening of the afternoon session.

E. C. Rector, Columbus, gave an interesting report of workings of the state service department.

GOVERNMENT TO SPEND $572,000 AT WRIGHT FIELD BILL PROVIDES

Expenditure of $572,000 is contemplated in connection with construction of permanent officers' quarters and barracks for soldiers at the Fairfield Intermediate Air Depot, it was disclosed Saturday. Plans for the erection of officers' quarters were contained in the list of detailed expenditures to be made by the war department, made public following passage of the Wadsworth-Hill bill.

Introduced by Senator James W. Wadsworth, New York, and Representative Philip Hill, Maryland, the bill was successfully hurdled its first big barrier—the senate—and has received the favorable recommendation of the House military affairs committee.

Officials of the war department are confident of its ultimate passage and have therefore laid their plans accordingly, announcing details Saturday.

War department will also be enabled to dispose of nearly $20,000 in surplus military reservations to provide funds to start the building program, the bill provides.

Item of $572,000 will be entirely sufficient to erect officers' quarters and barracks which were badly in need of replacement, according to Major A. W. Robbins, commanding officer.

The Fairfield barracks were constructed during the world war period for only temporary use and have now reached such a dilapidated condition that it would be impossible to make satisfactory repairs, it is said. It is realized the only alternative is replacement of the buildings, as composed mainly of wood and beaver board, they are a fire menace as well.

Government building program covers hospitals in several instances as well as officers' quarters and barracks and totals $100,000,000. Actual work will begin, it was reported, soon.

Wayne Everett, 27, confessed escaped convict from the London, O., state prison farm, Wade Allen, 47, colored, and Elmer Sharp 37, are in the County Jail awaiting arraignment Monday or Tuesday on charges growing out of the theft of fifty-eight chickens from the farm of Charles Sheridan, Paintersville Road, Friday night.

Sharp was arrested Saturday by Sheriff Morris Sharp and Deputy Sheriff George Spencer. Allen was taken into custody the same day by Sheriff Sharp and Patrolman Charles Thompson.

With arrest of Everett Sunday near Jeffersonville by Deputy Sheriffs John Baughn and George Spencer, the entire ring is believed to be cleared up.

Everett, authorities say, escaped from the London prison farm in June 1925 where he had served but four months of a one to twenty years sentence imposed in Chillicothe for theft of automobile tires.

Everett and Sharp actually perceived certain Everett will be practically certain Everett will be returned to London to resume his sentence but he may first be called upon to face a charge of grand larceny.

MOTHER OF EIGHT CHILDREN KEEPS THEM ALL HEALTHY

Says She Depends on Father John's Medicine for Coughs, Colds and Body Building.

A mother's anxiety is first of all for the health of her children; over that she watches with the greatest care.

When a mother of eight children tells her experience, it is something in which all other mothers are interested. That is why the following letter from Mrs. M. Stellabotte, of Brooklyn, N. Y., is of particular interest. She says: "I am a mother of eight children. Whenever they are bothered with a cold I use Father John's Medicine. The result is good, healthy children. We have never used any other cough medicine but Father John's Medicine. We recommend it."

Mrs. Stellabotte, lives at 405 13th St. Her experience is similar to that of thousands of other mothers who find that they can depend upon Father John's Medicine in the treatment of coughs, colds and as a tonic and body builder. It is safe for every member of the family to use because it is guaranteed free from alcohol or dangerous drugs. It has proven its value by more than 70 years of success.

A MATTER OF PAY.

INVESTIGATION by the United States bureau of education reveals that in spite of numerous preparatory schools for teachers the teaching staffs of rural communities show but slight improvements. The product of two-year normal schools goes almost exclusively to city schools. There does not seem any reason to expect a change in this. At any rate, the investigators have none but the most elemental suggestions to make for improvement which they regard essential.

First there must be recognition by rural people that their children cannot have secondary or higher education if they do not receive elemental training adequately. For this good teachers are needed. The farmers demand them. But as long as teachers are free to select from among the jobs available they will not choose small country schools if they can go to the city. When the normal school authorities are empowered to assign teachers against their will, not many new teachers will be graduated.

If rural schools are to be better served than they have been their managers must compete for competent teachers. Instead of paying the minimum salary permitted to be paid they would do well to offer premiums for good teachers. That would draw competence away from the city.

DECLINE OF SUPERSTITION.

WHEN KEPLER, one of the greatest of astronomers needed money and instruments with which to study the stars he pretended belief in astrology and obtained both money and equipment from his emperor by "reading" in the heavens good fortune for Napoleon. With the money which Napoleon endowed the pseudo-science, astrology, Kepler advanced the true science of astronomy.

This generation is less fortunate. The science of astronomy is not retarded by lack of funds, but the public is fleeced of vast sums annually by fake astrologists, palmists, phrenologists and other so-called fortune-tellers. Thousands of these mountebanks and impostors thrive more on American gullibility, and they are even more numerous in other countries. It is significant that as the general intelligence increases the prestige of the fortune-teller wanes until it finally disappears entirely.

Those who have faith in the soothsayings of fortunetellers usually believe in "signs," swear by the almanac and patronize the quack doctor. They live in constant dread of that "break" in the "life line" on the palm of the hand, plant their gardens by the signs of the zodiac, avoid black cats, throw spilled salt over the shoulder, never open an umbrella in the house, blame their hard luck on the mirror they remember or think they remember having broken years back.

A century or two ago superstition actuated the whole life of all humanity. Today a relatively small minority of mankind has cast out all superstition from its mind, but the great majority is still guided through life in greater or less degree by superstitious belief. When reason enters the human mind superstition must ever be crowded out.

FRANCE TRIES IT BACKWARD.

UNCONSCIOUSLY, perhaps, France is trying an experiment to see whether the cart can hitch onto the horse and go speedily off down the road.

If human nature in France is like human nature elsewhere—and it seems to be more so—this last proposal of French ingenuity to speed up tax payments seems the queerest of the lot, in French financing.

France now orders that nobody can vote who hasn't paid his taxes in full.

It will be interesting to see whether two duties, both regarded as irksome by a large element of the population, can be compounded into a pleasure—as whether the old-fashioned boy could have been hurried and cheered up to his wood-carrying if it had been provided that no boy could be permitted to bring in the wood who hadn't first taken his castor oil.

Here in America we are looking for more ways to induce the populace to get out and vote. It is doubted whether the situation is any different in France.

Telling them they can't vote until they have paid their taxes probably would not speed tax-paying or voting either. There has, however, been some thought of telling them that if they don't vote they'll have more taxes to pay.

WHAT COUNTS

When you've done your little boasting and you've had your hour of pride, when you've talked of your possessions to the stranger at your side, don't you sometimes get the notion that life's real and lasting joys after all are not connected with the cheering and the noise?

ASHTABULA TO HAVE NEW YACHT CLUB

Ashtabula, O. Jan. 18—Work in preparing a yacht club for the coming summer has been begun, it was announced today.

Contracts for the erection of the yacht club have been let and the membership of the club is to be increased during the year.

When you've tasted all the sweet things which the cup of life can give, and you've reached the goal you've fought for, you have still some time to live.

You will wake up with the morning, very happy in your fame, but this world and those about you will be very much the same.

Once you chatted with your neighbor, shared his sorrows and his play, just you spurn his gentle friendship, but now that wealth has come your way?

Is your love of man or woman not a worth-while thing to keep? Is there anything in riches that can make such treasures cheap?

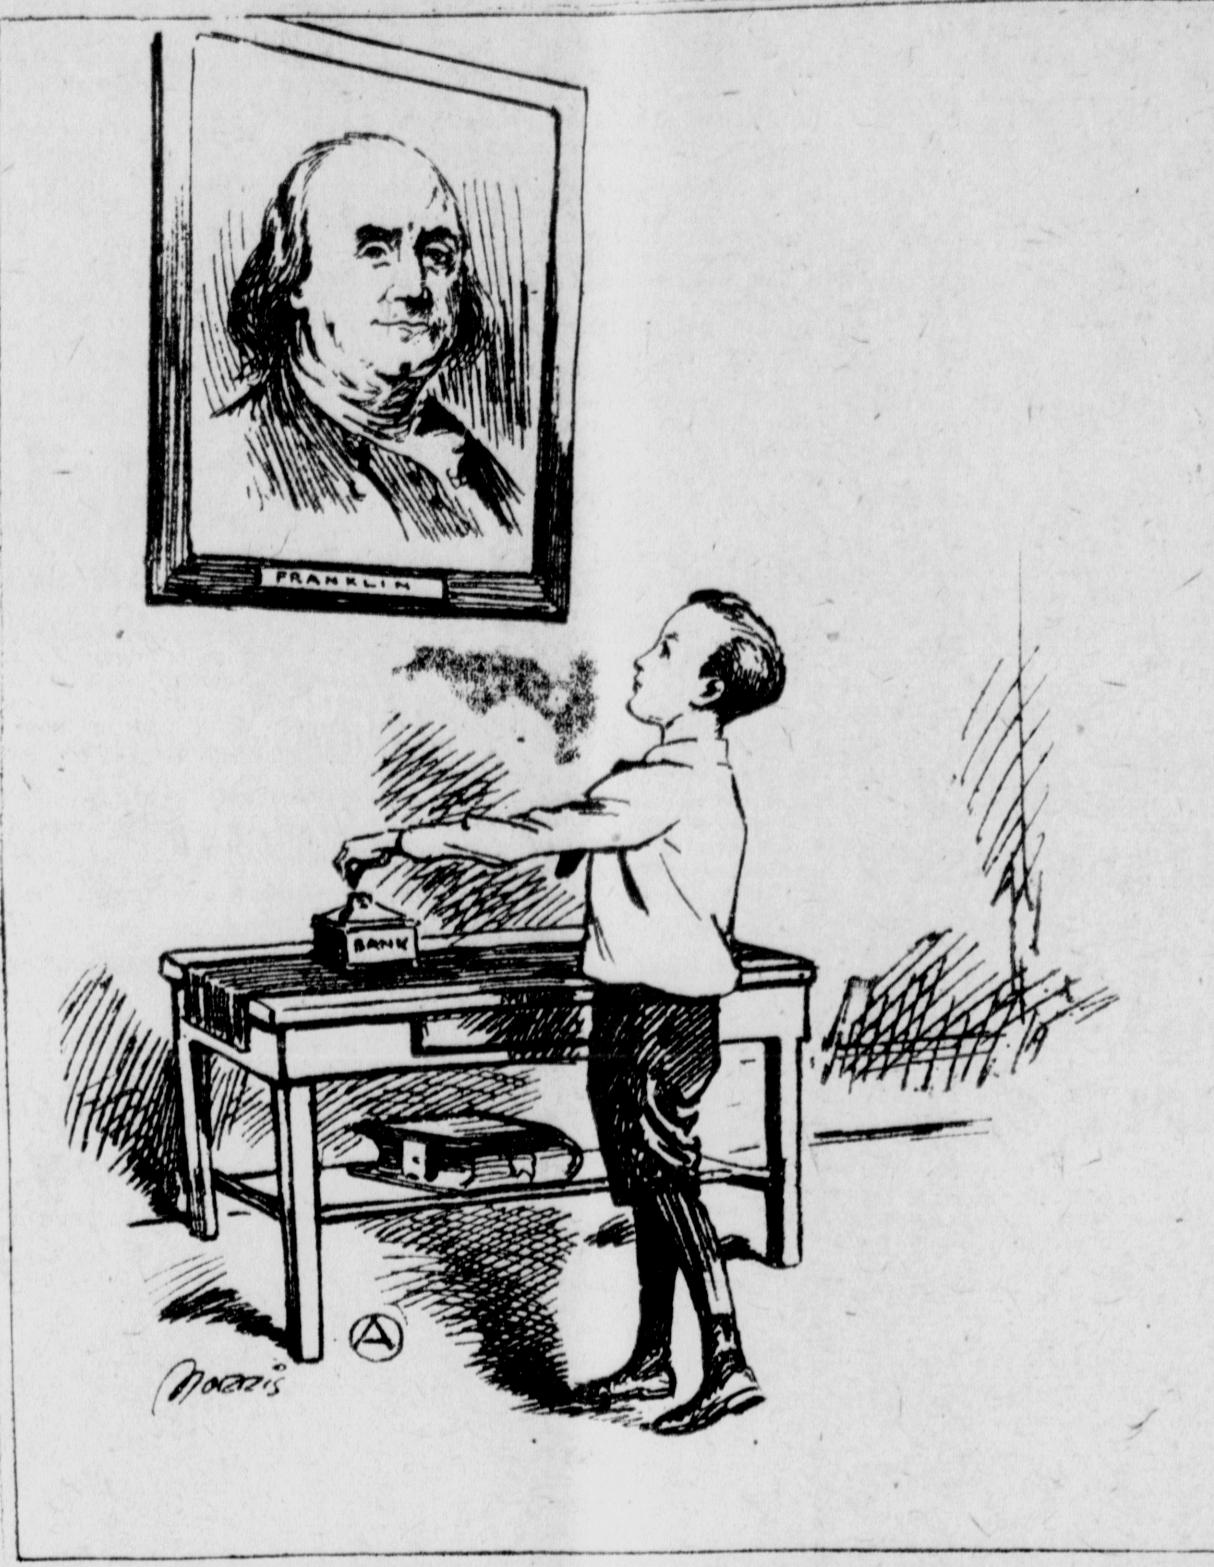

There is nothing more important than a friendly word or smile: Though men boast of their achievements, to be loved is more worth while.

For the pomp of place is hollow, when the noise and clamor ends, and men find their victory worthless if they haven't kept their friends.

If you wish to use a cooked evaporated apple filling, fill the pie pan with three cups of sauce, sprinkle over with ground cinnamon, then roll out the remaining piece of pastry (circular shape) and place this over all. Pierce upper crust with a sharp knife here and there, and bake 30 minutes in a hot stove (a shorter time is possible if one uses a filling previously cooked). The upper crust will be flaky if you dot it over before baking with one-third additional lard broken small.

Today's Talks

THE HARD JOBS

Dr. John H. Kellogg, the noted Battle Creek Sanitarium man, says that he early decided to do the hard jobs first. He felt that by so doing he placed himself in the position of being able to do all jobs when they needed to be done.

Today Dr. Kellogg is conducting an institution which draws men and women needing physical repair from all corners of the globe.

There is something very stimulating about attempting the difficult thing first—doing what your friends say you are incapable of doing—just to increase belief in you all around.

The late Frank Munsey came to New York with but forty dollars as capital with which to found a publishing business. He left a fortune of forty millions!

The inspiring thing about the life of Frank Munsey was that he loved the hard jobs. He never asked a hard job of somebody else that he didn't know he could do himself.

Many of the difficult jobs of yesterday are now being done easily by machinery. The big jobs today are those of faith, moral courage, and will.

There is a greater demand for ideas than ever before. There are bigger problems to be solved and handled. A man must have greater vision for work today than at any previous period in history.

If you draw the hard jobs, congratulate yourself.

And, please God, do not whine or complain about the fortunate state of having been handed a hard job. Do the thing. After all, it's your job, your life that is going to benefit from its handling.

Opposition and calloused hands are great things to possess.

WHO'S WHO AND WHAT'S HAPPENED

SALLY LEE, a young public stenographer in a fashionable hotel, marries

TOM PORTER, a young real-estate salesman who does not approve of his wife working. She stays home for awhile, then returns to work while he has a streak of bad luck that takes him from job to job.

MR. STONE, her employer, offers her a position in Atlantic City which she accepts after a quarrel with her husband.

What would her life be without Tom?

Her first taste of what it might be came when she emerged from the hat shop where she had recklessly said "Yes, I'll take that one too" after her money was all spent.

Carried away by the role she was playing, she told the salesgirl to hold the hats for her and she would send the balance of the money for them right over.

Right at the door she met Eliot Dane, who called out cheerily "Hello there, Miss Lee. Where are you going in such a hurry?"

"After money," Sally told him perily, her eyes twinkling up at him through her long lashes.

"Then stop right here. I can let you take it. And then perhaps you will come to tea with me and tell me where you have been all this time."

Sally hesitated only a moment, then impulsively led him back into the shop with her, where he paid the thirty dollars she owed. And in a few moments they were seated in the far corner of the Palm Room chatting like old friends.

"And the husband?" Mr. Dane asked hesitantly.

"He's left me or I've left him—or anyway we've separated," Sally finally blurted out after an effort to speak flippantly had made her voice all choked with sobs.

"You'll excuse me, won't you?" she went on a few minutes later, "but I have so much to do to get ready to go away I leave tomorrow. But where can I find you to pay back that money?"

"I think," he said, smiling at her, "that I may be able to run down to Atlantic City in a few days to collect whatever you owe me."

His words troubled Sally. She wished that she hadn't accepted his loan, wished that she hadn't gone to tea with him. She wished that Tom might appear miraculously out of the crowd and fold her in his arms.

But the die was cast now. It didn't matter what happened, for she and Tom had separated.

"I'll take this one too," said Sally recklessly.

CENTRAL WILL PLAY TWO GAMES IN THAT MANY DAYS THIS WEEK

Central High basketeers will embark on a week end trip this weekend to Miami and Troy on successive nights for games during which Coach Kolb is confident success will attend his team's efforts.

Xenia has engaged in three games on strange floors this season losing as many contests by close scores. Returning to its own wigwam, the Blue and White showed a reversal of form and has accumulated a two-game winning streak by victories over Greenville and Urbana.

Games with Troy and Miami on successive nights is a difficult assignment for Central, but with the improved form shown in recent games, victories over both teams would not be unexpected.

Miami will be met Saturday night and Troy the evening previous. Troy was badly defeated by Miami in a recent game and a Central victory over its Saturday opponent will be a much harder proposition to achieve.

Both Andrew the disciple and Andrew Jackson began life in crude, rough and probably profane surroundings; both were self-taught and poorly taught at that. Neither was much of a financier," said Professor Paul F. Bloomhardt, Ph. D., Wittenberg College, Springfield, who addressed the Young Men's Bible Class, First M. E. Church, this city, Sunday morning.

"But the other disciples did not meet their Master's test of worthiness as well as Andrew and his American namesake possessed the same fine quality—that of getting things done with such materials as were at hand."

"Just as many orthodox Jews of the days when Andrew used a fisherman's vocabulary would probably be astonished to learn that he had been sainted, so former generations of good church-members would be horrified at the mention of Andrew Jackson in Sunday School, he said. 'Yet God and the world and the church continue to value, and rightly so, the kind of man they represent—one who can get things done,' he concluded.

More than seventy men attended Professor Bloomhardt's address.

Everyone invited to be in the show is asked to meet at Legion Headquarters, Kingsbury Building, Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock.

Fifty young people of Xenia will take part in the production. Directors of the show announce that the best local talent available has been chosen for the offering.

More than seventy men attended Professor Bloomhardt's address.

It is important that all World War veterans, who still carry war-term insurance know that under the law this must be converted into some permanent form of government insurance, before July 2, 1926, according to Miss Margaret Wead, executive secretary, Greene County Red Cross.

If not done, the insurance will terminate, according to Miss Wead. She will take care of and give information for all veterans.

That Same Old Stomach Distress!

Curtise, Ohio—"I had stomach trouble all my life until a little over a year ago. I tried everything. At last I took Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and the 'Pleasant Pellets' and am glad to say I am not bothered any more—I feel good. I thought there was no cure for it, several doctors told me it couldn't be cured, but I found out it could. I doctorated about eighteen years without results and am glad to say that Dr. Pierce can cure what others cannot. I wish to have this printed so it will help other sufferers. There are several people around here taking the 'Discovery' since they saw what it did for me."—Ottie F. Shaneck, Route 1.

LICENSE TAG SALE
TOTALS $24,000

Total revenues derived from the sale of 1926 automobile license tags in Greene County so far this year is approximately $24,000. Dilver Belden, secretary and registrar of the Greene County Auto Club announced Saturday.

This sum is only about 20 percent less than for the same period last year despite the fact fees were cut in half under a new law this year. This seemingly inconsistent statement is accounted for by the fact, license sales have increased over 1925," declared Secretary Belden.

About 4,000 auto plates for 1926 have been issued from the auto club offices alone and the number distributed over the county brings the grand total to probably 6,500, the secretary announced.
